

"CHERRY ACRES" AT CREMORNE.

A well-balanced, capable cast, giving a first-rate interpretation of a delightfully written romance, made for an evening of enjoyment for an enthusiastic audience at Cremorne Theatre on Saturday night, when the Brisbane Repertory Theatre Society again presented "Cherry Acres." The authoress, Mrs. Dorothea Tobin, has done a fine piece of work, and with a cast capable of appreciating the light airiness of the dialogue, and the dainty charm of the story, it should go from success to success. Mrs. Tobin, who resides in Sydney, was unable to visit Brisbane for the production, but on Saturday night, between acts 2 and 3, she spoke to the audience from Sydney by means of radio transmission, and thanked them for their enthusiastic reception, and the players for their competent handling of her play. For two years it had been her ambition to have a play produced by the Brisbane Repertory Society, and that her ambition had been realised was most gratifying to her. This was her first big success in the theatre, but she hoped soon to write another play as good as "Cherry Acres." Those who saw "Cherry Acres" at Cremorne either on Friday or Saturday nights, will look forward to the successor to "Cherry Acres," and will wish for nothing better than to see it played by the Repertory Society.
